

The Henry Stone Graduate Assistant Fund

“I wanted to help someone get an education so I put UB on my gift list,” said Stone. “As part of one of its first graduating classes in engineering, it just makes me feel good to see that UB is growing and so proud that the engineering school is becoming nationally recognized.”

Henry Stone received his mechanical engineering degree in 1949 and set the Henry Stone Graduate Assistant fund to benefit a graduate student in engineering who is a member of a minority group or an immigrant like himself.
